

TEACHING THROUGH THE PRISM

THE POWER OF INTEGRATING
ART INTO K-12 EDUCATION

Thursday, June 23 and Friday, June 24, 2011
The Phillips Collection, Washington, D.C.

HOW DOES LEARNING COME TO LIFE WHEN YOU TEACH THROUGH THE PRISM OF ARTS INTEGRATION?

Join K-12 educators, administrators and policy makers for a national forum exploring the power of arts integration:

- Converse with cutting-edge neuroscientist Rex Jung, PhD, on the brain science of creativity and nationally-acclaimed teaching artist Eric Booth, author of The Everyday Artist, to explore the impact of arts integration
- Participate in a national conversation comparing arts integration and arts education
- Conduct arts-integration experiments blending art, language arts, social studies, science and 21st century skills
- Work with seasoned K-12 educators from the National Phillips Mentor Teacher Program, who developed best-practice arts-integration curricula
- Preview the new Phillips documentary, "Through the Prism of Arts Integration: Teach with O'Keeffe," featuring teachers and students from New York to New Mexico

FEE: $80 per person; $45 per person for teaching groups of two or more from the same school

TIME: 9:30am-3:00pm, includes light breakfast and lunch

REGISTER: www.phillipscollection.org/prism